Select Ratite Bibliography

Note: there are many references for ostrich and rhea and emu (especially those related to farming) that are not cited here. Because of the extensive bibliography on these species and all ratites in general, only articles of general interest to the zoo community are listed in this bibliography.

Ostrich

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Cooper, R., Mahrosei, K. and El-Shafe,M. 2008. Spread bow leg syndrome in ostrich (Struthio camelus) chicks aged 2 to 12 weeks British Poultry Science. 49(1): 1-6

Kille M. 1980. Will the Somali ostriches be extinct within the next few years? Somali Range Bulletin No. 9: 34-36.

Levy A; Perelman B; Waner T; Grevenbroek MV; Creveld CV; and Yagil R. 1989. Reference blood chemical values in ostriches (Struthio camelus). American Journal of Veterinary Research 50(9): 1548-1550.

Ratite Bibliography compiled by Sara Hallager

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager
Updated March 2017

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Rhea

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Taylor C; Dmi’el R; Fedak M; and Schmidt Nielsen K. Energetic cost of running and heat balance in a large bird, the rhea. American Journal of Physiology 1971; 221(2): 597-601.

Emu

---

Ratite Bibliography compiled by Sara Hallager

Nield, A., Enright, N. and Ladd, P. 2015. Study of seed dispersal by Emu (Dromaius novaehollandiae) in the Jarrah (Eucalyptus marginata) forests of south-western Australia through satellite telemetry. Emu 115: 29-34

---

Cassowary

Captive Management Guidelines for the Southern Cassowary Casuarius casuarius johnsonii Edited by James R. Biggs. Copyright c 2013 by Cairns Tropical Zoo

Wildlife Research 17(4): 369-386.

Hickey, G. To be or not to be? A cassowary or a bird? 1985. Australian-Natural-History 21(9): 394.

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager
Updated March 2017

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Webber, B.L. and Woodrow, I.E. 2004 Cassowary frugivory, seed defleshing and fruit fly infestation influence the transition from seed to seedling in the rare Australian rainforest tree, Ryparosa sp. nov. 1 (Achariaceae). Functional Plant Biology 31: 505–16.

Worell, E. and Drake, B. 1975. Breeding the Australian cassowary (C. casuarius) at the Australian Reptile Park, Gosford. International Zoo Yearbook 15:

---

Kiwi

---

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Kiwi Genome. Available at: http://www.bioinf.uni-leipzig.de/~studla/KIWI-HOX/

Ratite Bibliography compiled by Sara Hallager

General Ratite

http://www.poultryu.umn.edu/PublicationsandResources/RatiteManagement/index.htm

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Ratite Bibliography compiled by Sara Hallager
Updated March 2017

Extinct Ratites

Amadon, D. An estimated weight of the largest known bird. The Condor 49 (4): 159-164.

Pyke, V. 1890. The moa (Diornis) and the probable causes of its extinction. The Otogao Witness, September 18: 208.

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager

Tinamou

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager
Updated March 2017

Tinamou Research Group http://gallus.forestry.uga.edu/trg/conservation.htm

Ratite Bibliography complied by Sara Hallager